Vault Tracker™ – Lino Lakes, MN – February 11

An armed suspect entered a bank just as it opened for the day. He took employees at gunpoint to the vault where he stole over $77,000 and a Vault Tracker. The suspect wore a mask and fled to a waiting getaway car driven by a second suspect. The Vault Tracker tracked into St. Paul where both suspects were apprehended and over $75,000 was recovered. This was both suspects' first bank robbery and they previously only had a few misdemeanor convictions. Police stated it would have been unlikely to catch these suspects since they were masked and only had previous misdemeanor convictions.

$4,900

Cash Tracker™ – Los Angeles, CA – February 12

A suspect robbed a bank and escaped with cash and 2 Cash Trackers. Police used the tracking data and located the suspect's car but he was no longer in it. They impounded the vehicle and found both trackers. They have identified the suspect and an arrest is imminent.

Phone Tracker™ – North Charleston, SC – February 18

A phone store manager was followed from the store after closing. He was confronted by 2 armed suspects at gunpoint near his home and brought back to the store at 11 p.m. for a robbery. The suspects stole iPhones, iPads and iWatches valued at over $110,000 and fled the area. The manager included a Phone Tracker in the stolen goods. Police tracked them to a massive apartment complex but couldn't be sure which apartment they were in. Mid-day on February 19, the device begins moving again and police track the suspects as they headed out of state. A traffic stop was conducted on the interstate and both suspects were apprehended. All the stolen merchandise as well as the gun used during the crime was recovered. The tracker successfully reported for 16 hours which allowed police the time needed to get the job done.

$1,500

1 arrest

Cash Tracker™ – Seattle, WA – February 19

A suspect entered a bank and demanded money from a teller. He was given about $1500 and a Cash Tracker. He called a cab to pick him up after the robbery and a witness observed him getting into the cab and called police to report this. The officers responding were provided with updates from the trackers and quickly located the suspect in the cab. As police pulled him over, the suspect jumped out, failed to comply with officer commands, and took off running to a nearby bus where he offered the driver $200 to drive away. When the bus driver refused, the suspect threatened to kill him which was about the same time that an officer grabbed the suspect from behind and dragged him off the bus. After an altercation, the suspect was arrested. He cooperated during the interview and provided a full confession. All the stolen cash was recovered.

1 arrest

Cash Tracker™ – Riverside, CA – February 19

A suspect wearing an "old man" mask entered a bank and demanded money. He was given cash and a Cash Tracker. He fled and was immediately engaged by local police. A lengthy pursuit was initiated and traveled south all the way to San Diego. The suspect's full-size SUV was slowed with spike strips and came to a stop in front of a children's hospital in San Diego. The suspect barricaded himself inside the vehicle with a handgun and held police at bay for several hours. The suspect ultimately shot himself before he could be taken into custody. All the stolen cash was recovered. This was the "Old Man Robber" who had been very active in Southern California, so named because of the mask he wore during all the crimes.

$17,300
1 arrest

Cash Tracker™ – West Valley, UT – February 27

After scouting several different locations, the suspect decided to rob a small branch of a credit union. He entered the location, announced the robbery and began waving the gun around, ordering tellers to empty their drawers then ordering them to go to the vault to get more money. He fled and was tracked to an apartment building a few miles from the branch he robbed. Police used RF to locate the specific apartment and arrested the suspect as he walked out. He denied being involved but had the tracker battery in his pocket. He is facing federal armed bank robbery charges plus the additional firearm enhancements. Police made a full recovery of the $17,300 taken.
